CSSI welcomes new employees

May 28, 2008, Lewisburg, PA

Computer Support Services, Inc., a supplier of business technology products and services in central Pennsylvania, today announced the addition of five employees. CSSI celebrates its 35th anniversary in the IT Business, and is pleased to announce its ability to grow as an employer of the Susquehanna Valley.

Jeff Creighton joins CSSI as Vice President of Operations. Creighton comes to CSSI with over 25 years of IT management experience. Prior to CSSI, Creighton was the CEO and founder of ACS, Inc., which specialized in IBM systems for Manufacturing and Distribution, Internet Solutions, and Systems Applications development. In his early career, Creighton was Manager of Systems Development for Johnson and Johnson Medical Systems. Creighton is an alumnus of Lafayette College and Penn State University.

Edward Dame joins CSSI as the Technical Services Manager. Dame will head up one of the most important areas of CSSI's business – the technical services group of men and women that provide direct support for programming, installation, training, and support needs of CSSI's regional customer base. Dame comes from CACI International Inc, a large technology firm in Fairfax, Virginia. While at CACI, Dame managed IT development projects for the US Navy doing web-based solutions and Microsoft .Net based development. Dame is a 2002 Information Sciences and Technology graduate of Pennsylvania State University.

Robyn Bittner joins the company's accounting department as an Accounting Clerk. Prior to working at CSSI, Bittner worked as the Administrative Assistant at Danville Ambulance Service Inc. for eight years. Bittner works with vendor accounts payable and customer accounts receivable functions for the company.

Assisting CSSI as a marketing consultant for event planning and marketing activities since 2005, Shirley Nelson Brough recently joined CSSI's technical services group as a Microsoft Certified Business Solutions Specialist, implementing, training, and supporting customers that use Microsoft Dynamics GP accounting software. Brough owns a small Business Consulting firm that provides accounting, management consulting, and training services. Brough served as an adjunct lecturer in Financial Accounting and Small Business Management at Susquehanna University and was a Senior Financial Analyst for Geisinger Health Systems. Brough is a 2007 graduate of the Susquehanna Valley Leadership Program, holds an MBA from Bucknell University, and a BS in Accounting from Wilkes University.

Krista Olnick, Account Manager, joins CSSI's Networking and services group as a Cisco Certified Sales professional with over 15 years of experience in the networking, communications, and services business. Prior to CSSI, she spent the last decade with D&E communications as an IT Solutions Group Account Executive specializing in networking solutions from Microsoft, Citrix, and Cisco. She sold both data and voice solutions including VoIP from InterTel, Mitel, Nortel, and Cisco. Olnick earned a BA in Public Relations from Shippensburg University.

Creighton, Dame, Bittner, and Brough work at the corporate office in Lewisburg. Olnick works at the Camp Hill office.
